GREELEY — A local chiropractor has been arrested on suspicion of sexually assaulting a woman while she was receiving treatment in his office.

Greeley police arrested Jack Cody, 65, Dec. 24 after the woman told them he assaulted her and touched her inappropriately during a treatment session, according to a news release from the department. She told police she had been going to his office, Cody Chiropractic, for some time and he was becoming increasingly inappropriate. The woman said the assault took place on Dec. 22 while she was receiving an ultrasound treatment, the release states.

Police are asking anyone who might have more information on Cody to contact them. Anyone who believes he was inappropriate in other sessions can contact the department at (970) 350-9600.
